

Competitor Visual Audit Template

Map Every Competitor's Brand So You Know Exactly Where to Differentiate

1

Run this audit on your top 5 competitors before any brand identity or redesign project. The goal is not to copy — it's to see the entire landscape so you can own a differentiated position. Complete one grid per competitor.

GAP ANALYSIS — Where Is the White Space?

After completing all competitor grids, answer these questions to identify your differentiation opportunity.

Q1.
What colour(s) does no competitor own?

Avoid saturated territories — a new colour means instant visual differentiation

Q2.
What tone or personality is absent from the market?

e.g.
all competitors are

corporate
— is there room for a warm, human brand?

Q3.
What message is no one making?

The unclaimed claim is often the most powerful positioning opportunity

Q4.
Who is no competitors speaking to?

Is there an underserved segment the visual identity could target?

Q5.
What visual style is completely absent?

Could a radically different aesthetic own immediate recognition in this market?

POSITIONING STATEMENT BUILDER

Based on your audit findings, draft your differentiated positioning statement:

For [target audience] who [have this problem/need], [Brand Name] is the [category] that [unique benefit/approach] — unlike [c ompetitors] who [how they do it instead].

Your
draft: ____

[illegible]
